Re: Scheduled Test & Training Environments System Downtime 7:00 PM Friday 12/12/14 to 11:59 PM Sunday 12/14/14

Good afternoon,

As a follow-up to the earlier email regarding the maintenance window this weekend, there will be some necessary maintenance on the hardware that manages the test and training database servers. All Test and Train Buyspeed environments will be offline and unavailable during this maintenance while we apply server patches, reallocate memory resources, and work on the hypervisors.

We expect to begin taking servers offline after close of business Friday, and will have them back online by the end of the window Sunday evening so that your normal business processes will not be impacted Monday morning.

Since only Test and Train environments are impacted, we don't expect you to have to notify vendors, but you may want to alert Agency users who may be accustomed to being able to test things over a weekend, and ask your IT department to disable any system monitoring tools they may have in place.

Thank you,
