

Susie Miller Biography

No assignment is too small, or detail too complicated for Susie Miller. With a penchant for organization and an unforgettable personality, Ms. Miller is an accomplished and expert sales and customer service director for Versia, in Phoenix, Arizona. Versia is an environmental leader and top dealer of custom designed modular millwork, storage and filing solutions serving progressive technology and future trends.

Her duties also include a high level of proficiency in interior design, as an auto cad specialist, providing the link between the client design plans and manufacturers of modular millwork, storage and filing systems.

Miller has years of loyal tenure with Versia and a keen understanding of the high level of service required when planning, building and installing custom designed systems, which traverse across the country to their final client destination. As Director of Customer Service, Susie is highly regarded by Versia clients and employees alike. Her mission is to connect with her client throughout the detailed process, with consistent personal follow-up, which she feels are the hallmark of great customer service, and Versia's longtime credo which defines their success today.

Prior to Versia, Ms. Miller was Assistant to the CEO of Kolbe Corp, as well as in charge of client communications.

She is a graduate of the University of Georgia, with a Bachelor of Fine Arts. Susie Miller is married, and has two children.
